MEDICINAL.

Children

Have "eyes bigger than their stomachs," according to an old saying. They over-eat themselves, and are tempted by all sorts of injurious and indigestible edibles. As a consequence the foundation of serious stomach trouble is often laid in childhood.

For children with "weak" digestion or whose stomachs are diseased, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery may be confidently recommended. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the nourishment contained in food is perfectly assimilated and the puny child is built up by food into a condition of robust health.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains neither alcohol nor narcotics. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Mrs. Ella Gardner, of Waterville, Middlesex Co., Va., writes: "My little daughter is enjoying splendid health. I am glad I found a doctor who could cure my child. Whenever she feels badly I give her Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she is soon all right. She took twelve bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' eight bottles of 'Pell's,' and one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and she is well. We thank God for your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

JAPANESE TIGHTENING GRIP.

Advices from Tokio are to the effect that operations of paramount importance are going on within the war zone, but the government succeeds in veiling them in almost absolute secrecy. Since the occupation of Dalm by the government officials have been silent concerning conditions at Port Arthur. It is generally believed, however, that the Japanese army and navy are daily tightening their relentless grip on the besieged city, and that a final assault followed by the fall of the fortress is now only a matter of weeks.

It is known that engagements of varying importance are constantly occurring on the hills surrounding the city. The fleet of Admiral Togo is in motion day and night and is frequently engaged, but the forces and number of guns of the besiegers, as well as their positions, details of past operations and future plans are secrets which probably will not be revealed until the final and decisive action. Fragmentary information from various sources, especially Chinese, reaches Japan, but its publication or sending it abroad is forbidden under severe penalty. To the Japanese people it is like the enactment of a great tragedy in a thronged theater, upon which the curtain is never lifted.

The Russians are forced to travel afield along the Japanese front, which extends for 250 miles, in order to determine in actual scouting the positions and strength of their enemy; and added to this, they must discount a series of clever feints and ruses designed to deceive them. Many false reports concerning the war operations are being sent abroad; these the Japanese welcome as being just so much more chaff and sand thrown in the eyes of the enemy. The curtain down over the theater of war will, however, soon be raised, and it is confidently expected that the lifting will reveal the Japanese to be in possession of splendid strategic advantages, with men and guns enough to carry the present campaign to a successful conclusion.

TORTURED AND ROBBED.

With her wrists and ankles tied by robbers with leather thongs, and with a gag in her mouth, Mrs. Elizabeth Tangney, 75 years old, reported to be worth $500,000, was left to die in her lonesome room on the third floor of a building in Chicago Wednesday night. Four robbers, one of whom was a woman, had tied the things so tightly that every movement caused the aged woman agony, and at each attempt to scream the gag cut into her tongue. For seven hours after the thieves left her home the woman struggled with her bonds, and finally freed one hand. She rolled over and over through a doorway into the kitchen, where she got a knife from the table and cut the leather which held her a prisoner. She then became unconscious. It was two hours before she opened her eyes and crawled to the home of a neighbor, on whose doorstep she lay until discovered in the morning.

Mrs. Tangney was lying on her bed and was fully dressed when the robbers entered her apartments. She felt a hand pressed against her forehead and looked into the muzzle of a revolver. A tall man was standing over her and demanding to know where her wealth was concealed. She told him she had no treasure, and in return received a kick in the face. Three more thieves then entered the room. One was a woman. The men bent over the aged and frightened woman, and while one drew her hands behind her another bound her wrists with thongs. The blood was trickling down her hands and one of the men laughed. "It may loosen her tongue some," he said. Next her feet were tied securely and she was told that if she did not reveal the hiding place of her money she would be tortured with live coals. The suffering woman pleaded that there were only a few dollars in the house. Another twist was taken in the bonds and she cried out that her money was in her trunk. It was but to gain a moment's relief from pain. The trunk was smashed to pieces and the torture was resumed. Deep into the wrists and ankles the leather bit, but she could reveal no treasure. A large piece of leather was tied so that it came between the lips and pressed between the teeth. The torture from the leather gag was worse than that of either the wrists or ankles. More kicks in the head then ensued. A search of the premises followed. Nothing was found, and the woman robber suggested that the treasure be in Mrs. Tangney's clothes. A knife was applied and every part of her dress ripped to pieces. Nothing was discovered. Despite the old woman's pleadings the four robbers left the house without liberating her.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets Better than a Doctor's Prescription.

Mr. J. W. Turner, of Truhart, Va., says that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have done him more good than anything he could get from the doctor. If any physician in this country was able to compound a medicine that would produce such gratifying results in cases of stomach troubles, biliousness or constipation, his whole time would be used in preparing this one medicine. For sale by Richard Gibson and W. F. Creighton & Co.
